Baldwin Spends Hours At Belvedere Conference URGENT MYSTERY PLANE ON MISSION TO CANNES

There have been no sensational developments with respect to British crisis during the last 24 hours, although lengthy conferences at Fort Belvedere between His Majesty the King and his Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, have given rise to the suggestion that a climax is at hand.

It is believed that the Duke of York, Heir Presumptive, also The Duke of Kent was attended the conference at Fort Belvedere. present.

Major Alexander Hardinge, the King's Private Secretary, went to call on the Archbishop of Canterbury during the evening, and Sir John Simon, the Home Secretary, waited at No. 10 Downing Street at a late hour against the Prime Minister's return.

Meanwhile, public notice had been caught by the mysterious flight of a closely-guarded aeroplane from Croydon to Cannes, with three passengers aboard. It is suggested in some quarters that His Majesty may fly to Cannes to discuss the situation with Mrs. Ernest Simpson before taking a final decision as to their future relationship.

Informal Talks At Downing Street London, Dec. 8.

informal consultations were conlinued to-day both at Downing Street and at Fort Belvedere in connection with the situation arising from the question of the King's marriage, but no statement has been made, and the Prime Minister has not attended the House-of Commons,-In-his-absencethe Home Secretary replied this afternoon to an enquiry by Mr. C. R. Attlee, Opposition leader.

Sir John Simon said: "The Prime Minister has asked me to express his regret at not being able to reply in person. He has, however, nothing to add to the statement which he made yesterday," 🕕 🦠

Mr. Attlee then asked: "Can the Right Honourable gentlemen give un indication as to when the House will receive further information? "No, Sir, I must leave the Prime Minister to do that", said Sir John. This morning Sir John Simon and Sir Samuel Hoare were with Mr. Baldwin at No. 10 for nearly two hours. In the afternoon Lord Halifax called and later Mr. Baldwin left by car for Fort Belvedere, accompanied by Mr. Monckton Attorney General to the Duke of Cornwall, and Sir Eric Mieville Secretary to the Duke of York When they arrived the Duke of Kent who had called at Fort Belvedere before lunch, had not yet left.

A general exchange of views on the constitutional question took place at a meeting of the Parliamentary Labour party at the House Commons to-day. There was a full attendance. While no resolution was submitted and no official statement made, it is understood the party decided at this stage to do nothing that would in any way embarrass the Government. The Duke and Duchess of York returned to their residence at 145 Piccadilly this morning after spending the week-end at the Royal Lodge, Windsor Great Park.-British Wireless,

Important Talks

London, Dec. 8. Important discussions are apparently proceeding at Fort Belvedere, the King's residence, where Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister, arrived by motor car at 5.30 p.m., accompanied by Mr. W. T. Monckton, K.C., financial adviser to the Duchy of Cornwall whence the King is entitled to draw revenues. It is understood that Sir Eric.

Micville, the Duke of York's private secretary, was also present. The Duke of Kent had been with His Majesty for some time when the Duke of York's car entered the back gates of Fort Belvedere at 6.30 p.m. with an unidentified occupant;

ISTRIBUTING medical aid to a depression-ridden community gives a soft-hearted doctor the creeps; especially if he believes that the State should support medicine as it suppor s public librarians and garbage men. In 1929 Dr. Fraser, well known New York mother-and-child specialist, found that depres-sions didn't stop people having babies or children getting ill—they did more of each, in fact—but it did stop them paying for the privilege.

Getting all the time more State-support-forhospitals conscious, there were just about two places n man like Dr. Fraser could go: to Soviet Russia or to a remote tropleal island,

No sympathiser with the Communist cause, Dr. Fraser chose the latter. Drawing out of the bank such money as he still had left, marrying a woman who had a feeling for islands, he set sail for Hawail. That's where I found him.

He's settled down Here

HE has built himself a little house on a hill with a view of the two-mile-distant sea. His wife makes you soup from the pulp of the green coconul, bakes paw-paws and mangoes, serves sucking pig with pol. Poi, explained Dr. Fraser, is a food that I should

Luckily for you, calcium is found in other foods: milk, cheese, raw leafy vegetables.

Telling me what to Do

TR. FRASER must have been a very D. solicitous doctor. He made me sit in a big chair with my feet up while he gave me hints on baby care. A small, sunburned, almost naked baby about eight months old crawled sturdily around the floor, proved that he knew what he was talking

His own son is never known to cry. When he bumps his head he looks surprised and goes on crawling. He doesn't even cry-or sing-for his supper.. He would sleep right through from tea to breakfast, and did, in fact, until his weight chart proved the advisability of waking him up for a ten o'clock meal. One of the reasons why he doesn't cry (though goodness knows in that paradise there seems very little reason why he should) is because he hasn't got the habit. From birth he has lain on his stomach instead of on his back, explained Dr. Fraser, and there were a lot of good reasons

Reasons for not Crying

MOR one thing a baby lying on its front very rarely gets colic. A reason less to cry. Another reason, instead of kicking around wasting muscular energy on the nir, if he pushes at all he starts quite soon being strong enough to push himself up. .That gives him good exercise, strengthens his back and is an entertaining pastime.

The third reason is that unless there's something pretty wrong with him, semething, maybe, in the shape of a good sharp pin or an excessive attack of hunger, it isn't really worth while to cry. It's too much trouble in that position. Try it.

That sounded fine, I admitted. Just so long as the baby doesn't smother liself. He'd laid a good many thousand bables on their frontage, said Dr. Fraser, and never known one that had. They didn't need a pillow, of course; another reason why their backs turned out so good and straight.

The last time Johnnie Walker saw this cask of whisky it was the "new make," and was about to be stored away to begin the long natural process of maturing.

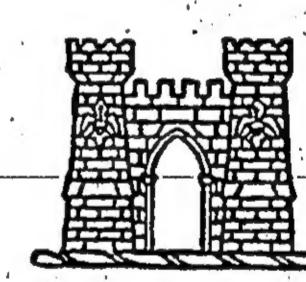

Now, after a number of years, the whisky has "grown up" and is to be blended with other good matured whiskies into an even better whisky-Johnnie Walker. Wales last week-end. Two nights' travelling for two days on the hills may seem doubtful pleasure, but those days were worth it, and on the homeward Journey I wondered at my folly in staying away so long.

It was nearing midnight when we reached Bettws y Coed. Everyone in the valley was abed, and not a solitary light was visible. But the moon was riding high, flooding the hills with soft gold, streaming through the woods, and transforming the road into a river of light,

On the way to Capel Curig the River Llugwy welcomed us with sweet and varied music, enough in itself to make one thankful to be back in the hills. A deepening roar indicated we were approaching Swallow Falls. Gradually this diminished as we left the falls behind, fading to a faint murmur until we reached Ty Hyll Bridge.

A brief spell of sibliant rushing and splashing, then another diminuendo and a spell of liquid whispers across the meadows were the accompaniment to Pont Cylyng. One more crescendo and the music subsided into the gentle strains that were to be our lullaby: Moel Binbod's conical crest made a brave show in the moonlight, but from in October. Welsh words I could not transcribe, but we were told they meant "Little Summer." There was indeed a summer feeling in the air, but one only needed to get in the shadow of the crags to feel the autumn nip in the air. Tryfaen claimed us that day, and strange to say we had the mountain to ourselves. In mid-afternoon, satisted with climbing, we sat on the summit by the pillars of Adam and Eve and watched the shadows lengthening below us and creeping round the valley. Far below in a little patch of green grassland we could see the farm of Gwern-y-gof-uchaf and there we were eventually drawn.

In a little parlour with flowery wallpaper we were supplied with ten and home-made scones and confronted with a Victorian picture illustrating the vile "Doings of Drink." Sunday gave us another equally delightful day on Idwal Blabs and confirmed us in the decision to return at no distant date. To make sure, I have left, my climbing books and rope at Capel Curic.

Four Hongkong Artists

THEY CATCH THE BEAUTY OF OUR COLONY

I: Luis Chan and Lee Byng

By E. M. BARRETT

DURING the last three months an opportunity has been given to the Hongkong public to see the work of several young Chinese artists who are working here in Hongkong.

· But for the encouragement and help "given by the Working Artists' Guild it is possible that none of these exhibitions would have been held, and it is gertain also that the genuine and there kindly interest taken by H.E. the Governor has helped enormously in making them a success.

Several one-man shows have been held, and though the attendance has not been very large at any of them, those who did visit them were astonished at the quality and charm of the exhibits, and those among the visitors who had any claim to be themselves artists were, I believe, humbled to think that they had been unnware that such excellent work was being done here in Hongkong and still, more that two at least of the exhibitors are entirely self taught and three of them without the means which would enable them to give unything beyond their spare_time to their art.

And yet one wonders, if Luis Chan for instance had been able to give all his time to painting would he have done so well?

There is a certain flerceness and defiance in his work which lends a glamour to everything that he produces. Here is a man who will paint, whatever the conditions of his life. Whatever hardship it may entail he will firid the time and the money to put paint on canvas. He paints like a knight going into buttle He does not, one feels, love painting.

but rejoices in it. You would not say of Luis Chan that he pored over his canvas like a lover but that he used his brush or his palette knife like a rapier or a broad sword; cut, thrust and slash, carving out the beauty and colour that he will, despite all odds, cut for himself from life.

Impossible to say. He might achieve greatness or in discovering that thinking he had nearly reached the mountain top he was in reality still climbing the lower slopes, ne might fall into despair and go no further. But I believe that he would make good, because I believe that every canvas he paints is a battlefield. Disillusionment regarding his own genius would, if it came, be just one more of the forces which he has been fighting all his life in the service of his art. It is not hardship that, if one is an admirer of his art, one must fear for Luis Chan but too much praise which may weaken the flerceness of his attack. Nearly everything that he does vivid and arresting. Much of it is poor, some of it astonishingly good. He draws with vigour and assurance, colours boldly and attacks any sub-ject which interests him without consideration of its technical difficulties. A "Luis Chan" purchased now may possibly be an investment that will bring in a good return, it will certainly be a picture to which you will turn your, eyes again.

.There is strength and vitality too in Mr. Lee Byng's work, but it is expressed in a very different way. Each brush stroke has been made with deliberation and restraint. Mr. Lee Byng suggests what Mr. Luis Chan proclaims, and because there is not a stroke which has not been considered, and which fails to express what he had in his mind, his suggestion carries weight.

EARTH'S CRUST IS COOLING

TELEGRAPH.

FROM THE INSIDE OUT SCIENTIST EXPLAINS

Washington, Dec. 1. The earth's crust actually may have started cooling from the inside out instead of from the surface inward, according to a theory explained by Dr. L. H. Adams, physical chemiat of the geophysical laboratory of the Carnegie Institution.

This theory upsets the popularly held belief that the earth was once a molten ball, that it gradually cooled from the outside downward and that millions of years in the future it will be "cold."

In a talk on "the earth's interior: its nature and composition," Dr. Adams indicated that originally the earth was a well mixed molten mass. Gradually, he explained, the iron began to fall away from the silicate layer which then began to crystallize at the bottom.

"One of the most cogent reasons for believing that the earth is crystalline is that in no other way can we easily account for the fact that the crust differs so markedly from the interior," Dr. Adams report-

"G. K. C." Sums Up His Friends

Mr. H. G. Wells. A "Permanent Reactionary"

G.B.S. 'GENERALLY WRONG'

Interesting passages in the late G. K. Chesterton's "Autobiography," are those in which he sums up some of the notable men with whom he came in contact. Here are some o his impressions:

KING GEORGE V

"I only met him once myself, at the house of the late Lord Burnham, where he was shooting. . . . He certainly did strike me as about as genuine a person as I ever met. But he was genuine in a rather unexpected way.

"He was not only honest, but frank, and so free and easy in his likes and distikes that he might have been called indiscreet. G, B, S. said truly of his public talks that they were indeed the King's English, but the private were also decidedly plain English.

"He was anything but the supreme permanent official many eulogies implied; he was not like some reliable solicitor in whom family secrets are locked up, or some doctor congested with the silence of professional confidences; he was much more like a little sea captain who keeps a certain silence and etiquette, on his quarter deck, but plenty of anecdotes, not to say anothernas, in his dotes, not to say anathemas, in his cabin."

MR. H. G. WELLS

"What I have always liked about Wells is his vigorous and unaffected readiness for a lark . . but I have always thought that he reacted too swiftly to everything, possibly as a part of the swiftness of his natural

"I have never ceased to admire and sympathise, but I think he has al-ways been too much in a state of reaction. To use the name which would probably annoy him most, I think he is a permanent reactionary."

MR. G. B. SHAW

"My principal experience from first to last has been in argument with him. . . I have learned to have a warmer admiration and affection out of all that argument than most people get out of agree-

"Bernard Shaw . . . is seen at his best when he is antagonistic. I might say that he is seen at his best when he is wrong. I might also add that he is generally wrong. Or rather, everything is wrong about him except himself."

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD

"When I knew him slightly in my Socialists, he had the name of being rather a cold and scientific exponent of Socialism; the more expansive and emotional sort of elequence seems to have developed late in life.

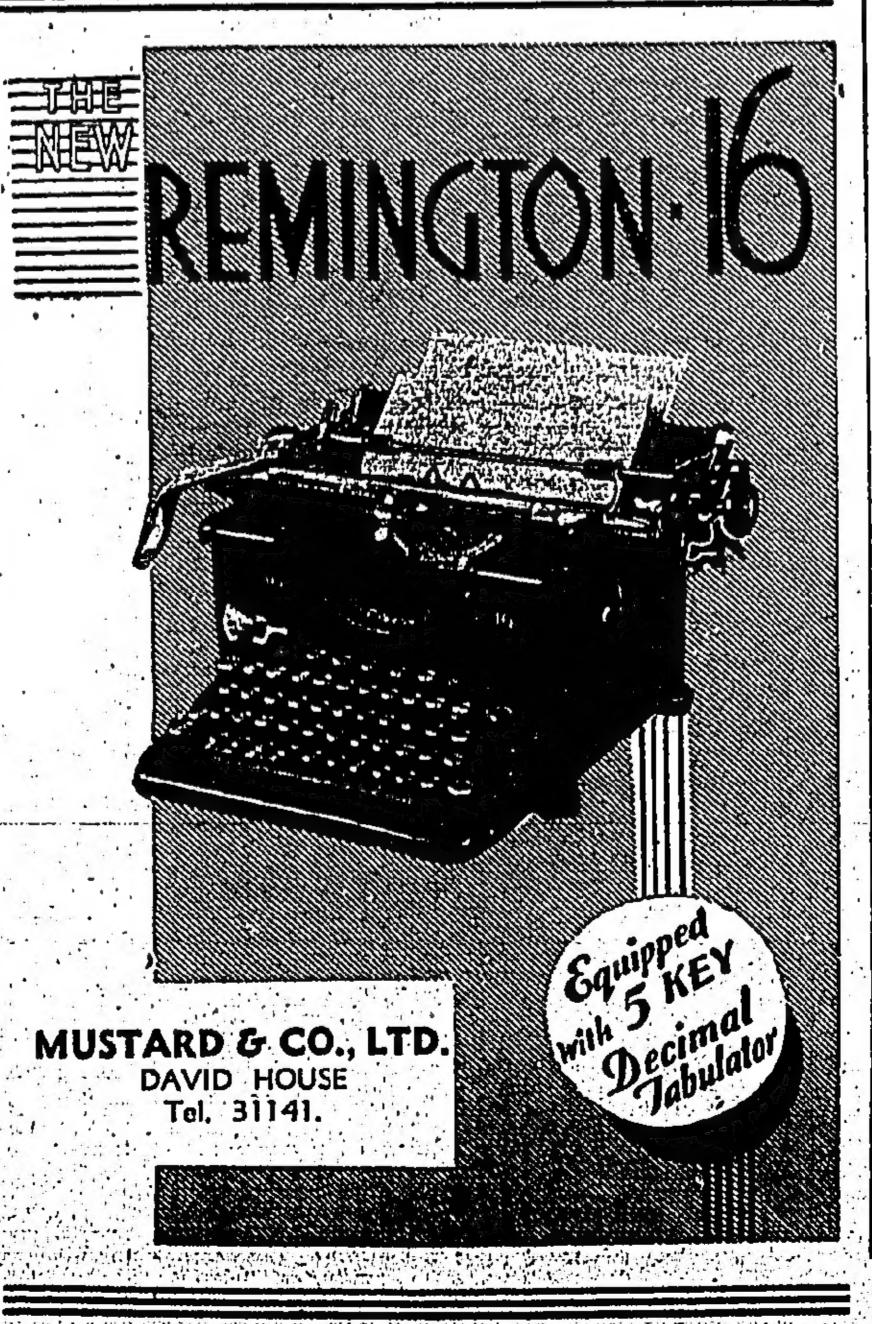

. "When he was still counted a re-volutionary Labour leader with a red tle I heard Balfour refer to him in Parliament with respectful regret, confessing myself an admirer of the Parliamentary style of the hon, gentleman, and somehow when I heard those words I think I knew that the man with the red tie was destined for a National Ministry. KING GEORGE MEMORIAL FUND

A FINAL APPEAL

Christmas is approaching with its numerous calls for generosity, and it seems desirable to close the King George V. Memorial Fund before it becomes one of too many claims on our charity. therefore propose to close the subscription lists on Saturday, December 19th, and I ask every citizen of Victoria and Kowloon to put to himself the following questions:

> Have I fully appreciated the nature of the Memorial, which is that the thank-offerings of those who prospered under the late reign will be devoted to the recreation of poor people in crowded areas; so that Hongkong's monument to King George will not be a lifeless statue of him but a living and permanent realisation of his desire for the health and happiness of his poorest subjects?

> (2) Are the ninety thousand dollars that have already been raised the most that Hongkong can do?

> (3) If not, can I add to the amount, even though my contribution be small?

In the country, the correspondent noticed that "there are hotels and bars in every village. Beside, one finds in the English villages all sorts of recreations. They have cinemas and theatres, gardens and sports grounds and bank branches. Indeed, I found a bank branch in a village that consists of seven houses only." KIDNAPPING SONGS

The most important preoccupation of the London police last September was "the discovery of the kidnapping gangs which kidnap not only boys and girls, but men too, and only agree to free them after their relatives have paid certain sums of money. Chicago, Nov. 30. Chicago's millions may turn their clocks back one hour, North Dakotans may get their first legal liquor, and Aug. 30—Huey Long's birthday—will be a legal holiday in Louisiana next year, as a result of three of the many referenda in the general elections.

Proposals varying from use of slot machines in Florida to issuance of $33,000,000 worth of power bonds in Washington were accepted and re-

Florida voters barred slot machines in 37 of their 55 countles, but aufthorized them in at least two. Floridans also voted for statepaid old age pensions.

Washington's power bond proposal was rejected, along with a $15,000,000 flood control bonds issue, and, an authorization of a state income tax.

Chicago, which became an island of eastern standard time in the middle west last spring, may return to its former system because a popular vote approved central time for seven months and "daylight saving" time for the summer.

North Dakota, dry since statehood North Dakota, dry since statehood although surrounded by wet states, voted to permit legal sale of liquor. Texas and Oklahoma defeated proposals to give their state governments a monopoly on liquor sales.

Losing Several Fine Footballers Next Week

INTERPORT NOMINATE SOCCER TEAMS

ATAVY football supporters go into mourning next week. When H.M.S. Bruce steams out of the harbour on Tuesday, December 15, she will carry with her no less than six first division footballers; and they are going Home. From the Navy socoer ranks will be missing Baxter, versatile winger who is just as much at home on the left as on the right, Bowers, clever, intelligent and debonair centre-half. Cannell, foraging, goal-scoring centre-forward, Gardner, hard-working left half, Hills, resolute right back, Wearmouth, former first team inside forward. Wratten and Shaw, two second division stalwarts. The departure of these players is an awful blow to the Navy, who had the makings of a first-inte out-I am told that at the moment Navy aren't quite certain how they aer going to fill these vacancies.

interport Ahoy !

CHANGHAI press seribes are losing no time in getting down to Interport football issues, and already C. W. Tombs, in collaboration with his Shanghai Times colleagues has suggested a team worthy to represent Shanghal against the Colony next February. There is a hint that this initial effort is not to be taken too seriously, but that it is more in the nature of an attempt to beat the Shanghal Football Association in a little game of "First to nominate the Interport team." Explains.Mr. Tombs in a comment preceding the announcement of his team: 'This winter, I understand, the Association is going to make some attempt to beat the Press, guns which usually start booming morosely about two weeks before the match, and an announcement about the match may be expected from the S.F.A. at an early date." After which Mr. Tombs and his confreres set about beating the Associaation to it.

Suggested Teams

Hongkong is not, perhaps, indifferent to newspaper nominations of Interport teams, so that' I herewith quote the proposed team, together with reserves, suggested by the Shanghal Times. The majority of the players are well known to Colony followers of the game and include at least players who have played here before in Interport. Here is the team: -Y. Z. Chang (Tung Hwa); L. Marcal (A.S.F.) and N. Lee (Tung Hwa); Remedies (S.R.C.), Symons (S.R.C.) and P. Bell (A.S.F.); Aldeguer (S.R.C.), S. Greenberg (S.R.C.), Roboosteff (A.S.F.), Suen Kam-shun (Tung Hwa) and Jimmy. Ward .: (A.S.F.) The suggested reserve side is:-Boissezon (A.S.F.); H. Madar (S.R.C.); Neubourg (S.R.C.); Collett (A.S.F.); Bulldeath (S.F.X.); Cochran (S.R.C.); Taylor (Loyals) Sharples (Loyals); Collaco (Lusitano), Bossuet (S.S.F.); Van (Tung Hwa).

No Need To Panic

DRESUMING that Shanghal' Anally selects a team from these 22 players, Hongkong can regard the prospect without getting into a panic. It seems fair to believe that anything up to half, a dozen of the players who visited Hongkong in 1935 will be here again next February. And we won that 1938 match by seven goals to one My own feeling is, even at this early stoge, that no matter whom Shanghai sends !.

PINDIS DUKE NOT TO LOSE HIS CILIAMERD PRIVATE ARMY

Free From Ban On Uniforms

The Duke of Atholl's army of 250 men, only private army in the country, will not be affected by the ban on political uniforms.

At the Duke's London house a London newspaper representative was told:

"The heading of the Bill makes it quite clear that it is for political uniforms and you can take it quite definitely that the Duke's army is not concerned.

"The Duke is entitled to maintain it by a royal patent; granted to his grandfather by Queen Victoria when she made her first visit to Scotland

THE MURRAY CLAN

The army is made up from members of the Murray clan who live on the Aholl estates at Blair Athell, Perthshire.

They come into prominence once a year when the Duke leads them at the yearly Blair-Atholi gathering. Binir Castle is the Duke's Scottish seat.

In 1845 the then Duke gathered his clausmen to greet Queen Victoria, and the young Queen was so delighted with her reception that she gave permission for the Dukes to maintain three companies of infantry independent of the War office.

The Duke is a descendant of Lord George Murray, the Jacobite general who fought at Culloden in 1746. He is 65 years old and has many titles.

OFFERED HIS ARMY

Sir Lionel Earle, in his memoirs, stated that in 1922 the Duke of Atholi offered to march with his Atholi Highlanders to the aid of prisonment.

They were Sir Lionel Earle and Sir Alfred Mond (the late Lord Melchett).

Dunstaffnage Castle under the Ancient Monuments Act and Sir Alfred, then First Commissioner, re-ceived a letter from the Duke of tions had been given to clap them curse of the Bourbons." immediately in the dungeon.

Baldwin Believed to Have Received His Decision

London, Dec. 9.

It is believed that the Prime Munister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, following a fivehour conference with King Edward last night, has received His Majesty's decision and that he is prepared to inform a Cabinet meeting at 11 a.m. to-day of the results of the latest conversations. Mr. Baldwin met the Duke of York, the Duke of Kent and Mr. W. T. Monckton, K.C., when he was with the King last night.

It is understood that an Australian Cabinet meeting, scheduled for 6 a.m. G.M.T., hurried King Edward's decision.—United Press.

London, Dec. 9.

A strong feeling persists that the King has decided to abdicate, and that his decision may be announced in the House of Commons to-day.

It is believed in financial circles that the King has informed Mr. Baldwin of his decision to take this step.

Meanwhile, Mr. Baldwin has departed from Fort Belvedere and hurried to London to confer with Sir John Simon.—United Press.

LLOYD GEORGE REASSURED

Kingston, Jamaica, Dec. 8. Mr. David Lloyd George, former Prime Minister and Liberal leader. has decided to continue his vacation here, instead of returning to England. He feels the crisis is "vintually over."

Important Talks

-At-Belvedere-

London, Dec. 8. Important discussions are apparently proceeding at Fort Belvedere, the King's residence, where Mr Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister arrived by motor car at 5.30 p.m. accompanied by Mr. W. T. Monckton, K.C., financial adviser to the Duchy of Cornwall whence the King is entitled to draw revenues.

It is understood that. Sir Eric Micville, the Duke of York's private secretary, was also present.

The Duke of Kent had been with llis Majesty for some time when the Duke of York's car entered the back gates of Fort Belvedere at 6.30 p.m. with an unidentified occupant.

Simon Awaits Prime Minister's Return

After dining with the King, the Duke of York and the Duke of Kent Mr. Baldwin left Fort Belvedere at 10.15 pm.

To No. 10 Downing Street, the Prime Minister's official home, came Sir John Simon, at 11,30 p.m. The Home Secretary arrived before the Prime Minister and waited for him.

public librarians and garbage men.

In 1929 Dr. Fraser, well known New York mother-and-child specialist, found that depressions didn't stop people having babies or children getting ill—they did more of each, in fact—but it did stop them paying for the privilege.

Getting all the time more State-support-forhospitals conscious, there were just about two places . a man like Dr. Fraser could go: to Soviet Russia or to a remote tropical Island.

No sympathiser with the Communist cause, Dr. Fraser chose the latter. Drawing out of the bank such money as he still had left, marrying a woman who had a feeling for Islands, he set sail for Hawali. That's where I found him.

Luckily for you, calcium is found in other foods: milk, cheese, raw leafy vegetables.

Telling me what to Do

TR. FRASER must have been a very solicitous doctor. He made me sit in a big chair with my feet up while he gave me hintson baby care. A small, sunburned, almost naked baby about eight months old crawled sturdly around the floor, proved that he knew what he was talking

His own son is never known to, cry. When he bumps his head he looks surprised and goes on crawling. He doesn't even cry-or sing-for his supper. He would sleep right through from ten to breakfast, and did, in fact, until his weight chart proved the advisability of waking him up for a ten o'clock meal.

One of the reasons why he doesn't cry (though goodness knows in that paradise there seems very little reason why he should) is because he hasn't got the habit. From birth he has lain on his stomach instead of on his back, explained Dr. Fraser, and there were a lot of good reasons for that.

Reasons for not Crying

FOR one thing a baby lying on its front very rarely gets colic-A reason, less to cry. Another reason, instead of kicking around wasting muscular energy on the air, if he pushes at all he starts quite soon being strong enough to push himself up. That gives him good exercise, strengthens his back and is an entertaining pastime.

The third reason is that unless there's something pretty wrong with him, something, maybe, in the shape of a good sharp pin or an excessive attack of hunger, it isn't really worth while to cry. It's too much trouble In that position. Try it.

That sounded fine, I admitted. Just so long as the baby doesn't smother itself. He'd laid a good many thousand bables on their frontage, said Dr. Fraser, and never known one that had. They didn't need a pillow, of course; another reason why their backs turned out so good and straight.

ESTATE DISPUTE RECEIVERS SECURE JUDGMENT -

Two Supreme Court officials and a solicitor gave evidence before the Chief Justice, Sir Atholi MacGregor, this morning in connection with an action concerning the estate of Mr.

Lau Ping. Plaintiffs of the action were Mr. J. H. Seth and Mr. S. H. Ross, recei-J. II. Seth and Mr. S. H. Ross, receivers and managers of the estate and effects of Lau Ping, and defendants were Lau Lam-shi, executrix of the will of Lau Yuen-fong, alias Lau Sheung-nin, deceased, and Lau Yiek-cheuk, administrator de bonis non of the estate of, Lau Ping. Plaintiffs asked the Court for, (1) a declaration that the sum of $50,000, advanced to Un. Ting-tsun and Lau Yiek-cheuk, second defendant, and secured by an equitable charge dated August 4, 1914 on Inland Lol-No. 1324, was advanced out of monies belonging to the estate of Lau Ping; (2) a declaration that the said sum (2) a declaration that the said sum and interests were still due and owing under the equitable charge; and (3) an order that the Registrar of the Supreme Court and first defendant, who had consented to judgment, be empowered to execute any necessary assignment.

Appearing for plaintiffs, Mr. Lco d'Ahnada, Jar., who was instructed by Mr. Geo. K. Hall Brutton, said his clients were appointed receivers and managers of the estate of Lau Ping in August, 1934. Subsequently. they obtained an order to get in the assets, and in August, 1936, they successfully applied for permission to bring the present action. Service for the action was accordingly served and a month later an order for substitution of service was granted. In October, 1936, the proceedings were commenced, ex-parte.

Continuing, counsel said Lau Ping died in 1898, intestate, and his eldest son, Lau Siu-cheuk, was appointed executor of the estate. On the death of the latter, Lau Yuen-fong and Lau-Yick-cheuk, second defendant, looked after the estate, and when the former died, Lau Lam-shi, first defendant, was appointed to take his place. Lau Ping, whose family was known as the Lau Kwong Tong, was interested in the Kung Yuen firm to the extent of fourtenths, while the-family of Un Wo Lok Tong had five-tenths share in the business. The firm carried on business on Inland Lot 1324.

On August 4, 1914, an equitable charge for $50,000 on the undivided molety of Inland Lot 1324 and other properties not connected with the ease was executed to the Un famly family brought an action, for the equitable charge to be re-assigned, alleging that the money had been repaid. However, the then trial Judge, Sir Joseph Kemp, not only held that the money had not been repald but that the sum was advanced out of the estate of Lau Ping, So far the money had not yet been

--- Mr.- Ar el -Arculli, solicitor, sald he conducted O. J. BE 1930, on behalf of first defendant. Item judgment in that action had peen delivered Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, solicitors for the Un family, broached the subject of repayment of the money, but so far none had been paid.

Mr. J. Hennessy Seth, one of the plaintiffs, testified he was an incorporated accountant and a partner of Messrs, Percy Smith, Seth and Fleming. He was appointed, together with Mr. Ross, as receiver of the estate of Lau Ping in O. J. No. 182 1933. Subsequently, he obtained an order to get into the assets of the estate, and later got leave to commence the present proceedings against defendants. In accordance with the order made in O. J. No. 182, Lau Yick-cheuk handed to him the books of Lau Ping. He found in the accounts which were up to February, 1934 no record of repayment of the $50,000. From the date of his appointment until now, neither he nor Mr. Ross had received any payment in respect of the equitable charge.

His Lordship made the declarations and order mentioned, and directed that the costs for the action be paid out of the estate.

ANOTHER ROYAL DISTINCTION !

A Further Cow and Gate Success.

It is announced that the Royal Warrant of Appointment has been granted by the Court of Jugoslavia to Messrs. Cow G Gate Ltd., manufacturers of the well-known Infants Food. This Warrant has been granted in respect of the successful use of the Food for Princess Elizabeth, daughter of Princess Paul, -

Thus another much coveted and in these days rare distinction has been gained for Cow & Gate Milk Food following closely upon the Appointment to the Royal Court of Iraq already announced.

It must be quite obvious that the Food used so extensively for Princes and Princesses of the Royal blood-and Cow & Cate is not unknown in the British Royal Nurseries—must be one of the pest authenticated products of day for Infant feeding. otherwise it would never be recommended under the aegis of the Court physicians on whom so much responsibility must rest.-

"I haven't seen you for years"

-said Johnnie Walker

The last time Johnnie Walker saw this cask of whisky it was the "new make," and was about to be stored away to begin the long natural process of maturing.

Now, after a number of years, the whisky has "grown up" and is to be blended with other good matured whiskies into an even better whisky-Johnnie Walker. Because of its natural "roundness," Johnnie Walker is most valuable and refreshing in all climates. It's always worth while asking for Johnnie Walker by name.

There are many ways of hard woods. The simplest consists of a wooden block with a groove cut into it, along which a stick is rubbed frapidly up and down. A good deal of rubbing is necessary.

Tinder (shredded birch bark is an excellent tinder) must be handy, and dry and inflammable.

Worm is a universal bait. Practically all fish can be caught on worm. Good spots for roach, dace and trout are generally below overhanging bushes. Much success may be attained by fishing for roach and dace with a tiny blob of paste (dough) on a small hook.

Many fish, including the tasty perch, can be caught on night lines, a length of line with baited hook being thrown into a likely spot (on the outskirts of a bed of weeds) and left overnight.

staying away so long, It was nearing midnight when we reached Bettws y Coed. Everyone in the valley was abed, and not a solitary light was visible. But the moon was riding high, flooding the hills with soft gold, streaming through the woods, and transforming the road into a river of light.

On the way to Capel Curig the River Llugwy welcomed us with sweet and varied music, enough in itself to make one thankful to be back in the hills. A deepening roar indicated we were approaching Swallow Falls, Gradually this diminished as we left the falls behind, fading to a faint murmur until we reached Ty Hyll Bridge. Far below in a little patch of green grassland we could see the farm of Gwern-y-gof-uchnf and there we were eventually drawn.

In a little pariour with flowery wallpaper we were supplied with sea and home-made scones and confronted with a Victorian picture illustrating the vile "Doings of Drink."

UNITED STATES MAY REVIVE CONSTRUCTION OF DIRIGIBLES

Washington, December 1. Inspired by Germany's success with trans-Atlantic dirigible operations, United States officials are planning legislation which will enable the United States to resume activity in dirigible enterprises.

Commerce Department officials in charge of aeronautics have formulated tentative proposals which probably will be submitted to Congress at its next session in January, so that a United States company can enter Zeppelin operating field.

Alhough still ploughing a lonely furrow, Mr. Churchill every now and then figures in the House in vigorous criticism charges of lack of expedition in pushing on with national realso obviously decidedly political. Recently, Mr. Baldwin gave a detailed reply to some of these criticisms, pointing out that past delays in the matter of rearming were largely due to the reluctance of the Government to act in advance of public opinion, which was strongly pacifist in its views. It is easy for Mr. Churchill and for others who think along the same lines to be wise after the event, but nothing is to be gained at this stage by raking up the past. It is the future that matters. On this aspect of the question, Mr. Baldwin has assured Parliament that, on the whole, British rearmament is making good progress and that he is satisfied at | tor is that nowndays our democracy in our time. Four Hongkong Artists

I: Luis Chan and Lee Byng By E. M. BARRETT

TURING the last three months an opportunity has been given to the Hongkong public to see the work of several young Chinese artists who are working here in Hongkong.

But for the encouragement and help given by the Working Artists' Guild it is possible that none of these exhibitions would have been held, and it is certain also that 'the genuine and 'very I indly interest taken by H.E. the Governor has helped enormously in making them a success.

Several one-man shows have been held, and though the attendance has not been very large at any of them, those who did visit them were astonished at the quality and charmof the exhibits, and those among the Alshors who had any claim to be themselves artists were, I believe, humbled to think that they had been upaware that such excellent work was being done here in Hongkong and all I more that two at least of the exhibitors are entirely self-tought. and three of them without the mean. which would enable them to glyanything beyond their space time to their art.

And yet one wonders, If Luts Chan for instance had been able to give all his time to painting would he have done so well?

There is a certain flerceness and defiance in his work which lends a glumour to everything that he produces. Here is a man who will paint, whatever the conditions of his life. Whatever hardship if may entail he will find the time and the money to put paint on canvas. It pnints like a knight going into battle He does not, one feels, love painting, but rejoices in it.

You would not say of law Chan that he pored over his canvas like a lover but that he used his brush for his pulette knife like is rapier or a broad sword; cut, thrust and slash. carving out the beauty and colour that he will, despite all odds, cut for himself from life. If a good fairy filled Luis Chan's pockets so that he could go to Europe to study, what would happen?

Impossible to say, He might nchieve greatness or in discovering that thinking he had nearly reached the mountain top he was in reality still elimbing the lower slopes, remight fall into despair and go no further. But I believe that he would make good, because I believe, that every canvas he paints is a battlefield. Disillusionment regarding his own genius would, if it came, be just one more of the forces which he has been fighting all his life in the service of his art. It is not hardship that, if one is an admirer of his art, one must fear for Luis Chan but too much praise which may weaken the florceness of his attack. Nearly everything that he does is vivid and arresting. Much of it is poor, some of it astonishingly good. He draws with vigour and assurance, colours boldly and attacks any subicct which interests him without consideration of its technical dif-

A "Luis Chan" purchased now may possibly be an investment that will bring in a good return. It will certainly be a picture to which you will turn your eyes

And in contrast there was an exhibition of water colours by Mr. Lee

There is strength and vitality too in Mr. Lee Byng's work, but it is expressed in a very different way. Each brush stroke has been made with deliberation and restraint. "G. K. C." Sums Up His Friends

Mr. H. G. Wells A "Permanent Reactionary"

G.B.S. 'GENERALLY WRONG'

Interesting passages in the late G. K. Chesterton's "Autobiography," are those in which he sums up some of the notable men with whom he came in contact. Here are some of his impressions:—

"I only met him once myself, at the house of the late Lord Burnham, where he was shooting. . . . He certainly did strike me as about as genuine a person as I ever met. But he was genuine in a rather unexpected way.

"He was not only honest, but frank, and so free and easy in his likes and distikes that he might have been called Indiscreet, 'G. B. S.' said truly of his public talks that they were indeed the King's English, but the private were also decidedly plain English.

permanent official many eulogies implied; he was not like some reliable solicitor in whom family secrets are locked up, or some doctor congested with the silence of professional confidences; he was much more like a little sea captain who keeps a cer-tain silence and etiquette on his quarter deck, but plenty of anecdotes, not to say anothemas, in his

"What I have always liked about Wells is his vigorous and unaffected rendiness for a lark . . . but I have always thought that he reacted too swiftly to everything, possibly as a part of the swiftness of his natural

"I have never ceased to admire and sympathise, but I think he has always been too much in a state of reaction. To use the name which would probably annoy him most, I think he is a permanent reactionary."

MR. G. B. SHAW "My principal experience from first to last has been in argument with him. . . . I have learned to have a warmer admiration and affection out of all that argument than most people get out of agree-

"Bernard Shaw . . . is seen at his best when he is antagonistic. I might say that he is seen at his best when he is wrong. I might also add that he is generally wrong. Or rather, everything is wrong about him except himself."

"When I knew him slightly in my youth, in the days when we were all Socialists, he had the name of being rather a cold and scientific exponent of Socialism; the more expansive and emotional sort of eloquence seems to have developed late in life.

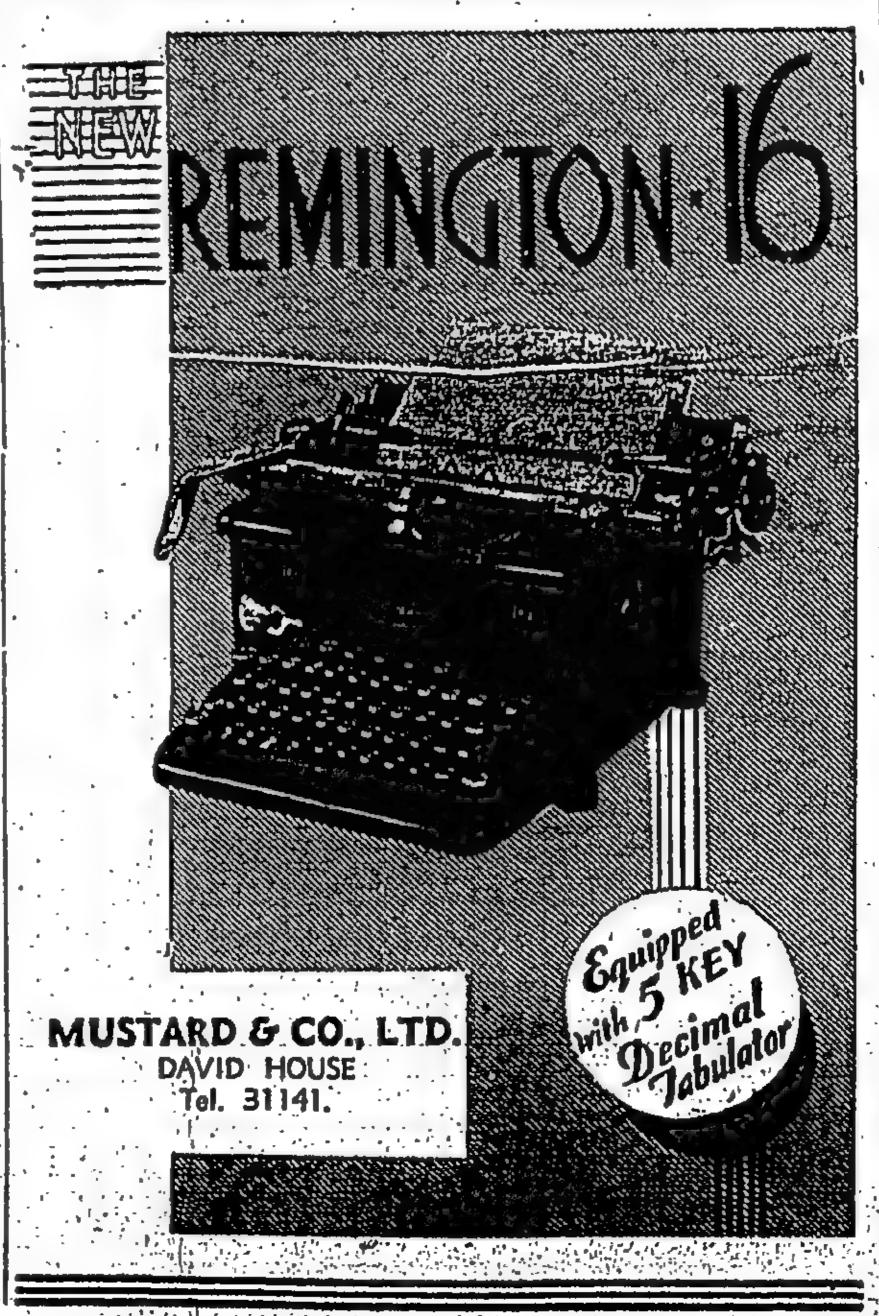

"When he was still counted a revolutionary Labour leader with a red tie I heard Balfour refer to him in Parliament with respectful regret,
'confessing myself an admirer of the
Parliamentary style of the hon, gentleman,' and somehow when I heard those words I think I knew that the man with the red tle was

KING GEORGE MEMORIAL FUND

A FINAL APPEAL

Christmas is approaching with its numerous calls for generosity, and it seems desirable to close the King George V. Memorial Fund before it. becomes one of too many claims on our charity. therefore propese to close the subscription lists on Saturday, December 19th, and I ask every citizen of Victoria and Kowloon to put to himself the following questions:

(1) Have I fully appreciated the nature of the Memorial, which is that the thank-offerings of those who prospered under the late reign will be devoted to the recreation of poor people in crowded areas; so that Hongkong's monument to King George will not be a lifeless statue of him but a living and permanent realisation of his desire for the health and happiness of his poorest subjects?

(2) Are the ninety thousand dollars that have already been raised the most that Hongkong can do?

If not, can I add to the amount. even though my contribution be small?

Or, having already given,"can give more?

Where Men Work Day and Night

ENGLAND AS SEEN BY EGYPTIANS

Lively Old Ladies Of

English people are learning some startling facts, about their own country from some of the Egyptian journalists who recently visited London for the signing of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty.

English people have to work day and night in order to make a living we are given to understand by the passed, and approving state-federal Al Ahram correspondent. He came co-operation under Social Security to the conclusion that the cost of laws. living in England was three times what it is in Egypt. The English Inbourer, he noticed, is a spendthrift.

"He may spend all his wages on such things as liquor, tea, and tobacco. Although this habit of extravagance is harmful to the labourer himself, yet it benefits commerce and lessens the effects of the crisis.".

The correspondent reached London just when the school terms were

"London is now as if it were in continual festivities. Students welcome the return to their school, and they meet each other with joyful acclamations."

KIDNAPPING SONGS

The most important prececupation of the London police last September was "the discovery of the kidnapping gangs which kidnap not only boys and girls, but men too, and only agree to free them after their relatives have pald certain sums of money. Before the ingenuity of these kidnapping gangs, the London police stands helpless.

"The Force is also occupied with trucing the allens who migrate into London and mix with the inhabitants. According to English law, anyone who lives in England for a period of five years becomes entitled to the English nationality. Many Egyptians, having resided longer in London, have been offened the English nationality, but they refused to accept this status despite its many privileges."

MARRIED WOMEN LIKE GIRLS The Englishwoman in particular made a striking effect on the correspondent.

"Idany Englishwomen appear as if they were still girls, even those who have married and have children. The fact is that the Englishwoman takes a lively interest in her health, to such an extent that many live in god health up to their eighties and nireties. I have seen many of the latter in parks. I listened to their conversation, admired their apt remarks, and marvelled at their good measures.

Kingfisher's Birthday As Holiday

Chicago Votes To Turn Back Clocks

Chicago's millions may turn their clocks back one hour, North Dako-tans may get their first legal liquor, and Aug. 30—Huey Long's birthday —will be a legal holiday in Louisiana next year, as a result of three of the many referenda in the general elections.

. : Proposals' varying from use of slot machines in Florida to issuance of $33,000,000 worth of power bonds in Washington were accepted and re-

Florida voters barred slot machines in 37 of their 55 counties, but authorized them in at least two. Floridans also voted for statepaid old age pensions.

Washington's power bond proposal was rejected, along with a $15,000,000 flood control bonds issue, and an authorization of a state income tax.

Chicago, which became an island of eastern standard time in the middle west last spring, may return to its former system because a popular vote approved central time for seven months and "daylight saving" time for the summer.

North Dakota, dry since statehood although surrounded by wet states, voted to permit legal sale of liquor. Texas and Oklahoma defeated proposals to give their state governments a monopoly on liquor sales.

Besides establishing the late Senator Long's birthday as a legal holiday, the Louisiana political machine boasted of having put through 33 other constitutional amendments per-mitting legislators to increase their own salaries or take the jobs they create, permitting Louisiana citizens to register by mail from other states, authorizing the governor to make laws effective as soon as they are

California voters decided not to repeal the state income tax law, not to tax oleomargarine, not to tax chain stores, not to grant local option in liquor sales.

New York City voted to install proportional representation giving minor parties a share in the city government, and to inaugurate a new city charter tightening administra-tion machinery and eliminating many political prizes.

The city of Detroit refused to abandon its commission form of government for a ward council.

AIR INFANTRY FOR FRANCE -PARACHUTE CORPS

Paris, Dec. 1.

France is to follow the example of Russia and form a parachute corps.
M. Cot, the Air Minister, who is responsible for its formation, is a great admirer of the Soviet Air Force, which he recently inspected.

The communique issued by the Air Ministry states that "the general programme of reorganising the air force comprises the creation of air infantry units."

"These new units," the communi-que continues, "will comprise two groups of officers who, in the event of war, will be able to surprise the enemy by rear attack. They will be stationed respectively at Rheims and

"The groups will comprise a company of riflemen and a transport squadron able to assure the disembarkation of the infantry either by parachute or by landing."

The communique concludes, "In agreement with the Ministers of Defence, War and Marine, the Air Minister proposes, besides, to provide our air force in the immediate future with certain indispensable auxiliary services."

Navy Losing Several Fine Footballers Next Week

TAVY football supporters go | into mourning next week. When H.M.S. Bruce steams out of the harbour on Tuesday, Decem-ber 15, she will carry with her no ber 15, she will carry with her no less than six first division footballers; and they are going Home. From the Navy soccer ranks will be missing Baxter, versatile winger who, is just as much into home on the left as on the right, Bowers, clever, intelligent and debonair centre-half, Cannell, foraging, goal-scoring centre-forward, Gardner, hard-working left | Fer half, Hills, resolute right back, Wearmouth, former first team inside forward. Wratten and Shaw, two second division stalwarts. The departure of these players is an awful blow to the Navy, who had the makings of a first-rate outfit. I am told that at:the moment Navy aren't quite certain how they aer going to fill these vacancies.

Interport Ahoy!

Clianglial-press-scribes-are-losingno time in getting down to Interport football issues, and already C. W. Tombs, in collaboration with his Shanghai Times colleagues has suggested a team worthy to represent Shanghai against the Colony next February, There is a hint that this duitial effort is not to be taken too seriously, but that it is more in the nature of an attempt to beat the Shanghai Football Association in a little game of "First to nominate the Interport team." Explains Mr. Tombs in a comment preceding the announcement of his team: This winter, I understand, the Association is going to make some attempt to beat the Press guns which usually start booming morosely about two weeks before the match, and an announcement about the match may be expected from the S.F.A. at an early date." After which Mr. Tombs and his confreres set about beating the Associa-

Suggested Teams

Hongkong is not, perhaps, indifferent to newspaper nominations of Interport teams, so that I herewith quote the proposed team, together with reserves, suggested by the Shanghai Times. The majority of the players are well known to Colony followers of the game and mclude at least players who have played here before in Interport Here is the team:-Y. Z. Chang (Tung Hwa); L. Marcal (A.S.F.) and N. No Need To Panic

DRESUMING that Shanghal finally A selects a team from these 22 players, Hongkong can regard the prospect without getting into a panic. It seems fair to believe that anything up to half a dozen of the players who visited Hongkong in 1935 will be here again next Febru-'ary. And we won that 1935 match by seven goals to one! "Rough Stuff" Introduced More Than Once

Welsh Rugby is under a cloud as result of happenings on Welsh Cambridge fought back brilliantly grounds, beginning with the Richmond-Swansea match and culminating in the Swansea-Llanelly affair and the ordering off of two players.

Apart from the actual incidents, the decision to cancel fixtures beand cannot pass without official notice, as there appears little likelihood of the clubs meeting again.

Throughout the season there has been a tendency in some first class and second class matches to introduce "rough stuff" into the play, and the probability now is that the governing body will instruct their referees to act promptly and draytically in future against any players who gave the least Indication of kicking over the traces.

--The -East -Glamorgan 'Rugby-Union are to take the first step to deal with rough play, at a conference. Urgent steps, they say, are needed to maintain the good name of the game in East Glamorgan.

"Oh." she cried from out the depths of her agony. "If I wake, shall I not be distraught?"

She buried her face in her hands to ward off this waking nightmare But through her fingers it persisted, bringing wild visions that now betrayed her mind. Did she play madwith some forebear's bones? Might she not pluck the mangled Tybalt from his shroud? Would she, in this rage, dash out her desperate brains? She stifled a shrick. Her eyes rivetted themselves on the vial.

"Look," she whispered. "Methinks I see my cousin's ghost seeking out Romeo." Her hand closed swiftly on the vial and she raised it to her lips. "Stoy. Tybalti Stay!" she cried and fell back upon her bed She drew her curtains closed and swiftly drained the vial. "Romeo," she murmured. "I come."

And all that Friar Laurence promised came to pass. Soon, soon, she crossed the gulf from consciousness to sleep. Like icy death the potion froze her veins. No pulse, no warmth, no breath betokened that she lived.

So lay she through the night. So early day found her. Outside her window the noisy morning sounds proclaimed the wedding preparations.

Inside the great hall Lady Capulet rounded up the serving men. "Nurse!" she called, "Fetch more Lyons, Dec. 8. The mystery plane from Croydon, en route to Cannes, departed for Marselles after refueling here.-Reuter.

Passengers Identified

Marsellies, Dec. 8. A plane from Croydon, England, carrying three passengers, landed here to-day. Its occupants are exmorrow. Marscilles is only 90 miles from Cannes by road.

The passengers are reported to be Dr. Kirkwood, Mr. Theodore Goddard, Mrs. Ernest Simpson's solicitor, While the pilot and wireless opera-tor of the plane remained at the airport, the three passengers drove to Marseilles proper by taxi. The plane is remaining at the airport until to-morrow.

Leave For Cannes

The three passengers of the plane from Croydon, it was announced later, after dining at a local hotel, left by motor car for Cannes.-Reuter.

Mrs. Simpson Well

Cannes, Dec. 8. Lord Brownlow, who is Lord-in-Walting to His Majesty the King, and who yesterday issued on Mrs. Ernest Simpson's behalf a statement which has been interpreted in the London press as a renunciation of that lady's love for His Majesty, today issued a further announcement. Mrs. Simpson, he said, would remain at Cannes over Christmas. He added that Mrs. Simpson with keeping well.-Reuter.

King's Plane?

A mysterious plane, believed to belong to King Edward, passed through Paris en route to Cannes from Croydon to-day, piloted by Capt. C. J. Almonn and carrying three passengers, including two members of the law firm of Theodore Goddard and Company, which represented Mrs. Simpson in her recent divorce suit.

The presence of the solicitors caused considerable speculation as it is recalled that in English law it is not necessary to wait for the prescribed six months before divorce decree nisi can be made final, pro-viding the court can be shown good

One adequate reason might be the necessity of the complainant remaining abroad for a protracted period, it is thought.—United Press.

Solicitor Arrives

Cannes, Dec. 8. Lord Brownlow stated this evening that Mrs. Simpson's solicitor, who has arrived at Marseilles by acroplane, is coming to Cannes at his own suggestion to discuss details with regard to the disposal of Mrs. Simpson's town house, as she has no intention of returning to London for a considerable time.—Reuter.

"BOY" STEALS JEWELLERY RESTITUTION ORDER

AND GAOL

A 21-year-old Chinese "boy" who betrayed a trust, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at Kowloon Magistracy this morning charged with the larceny of two rings and a pair of gold cuff links, valued at $170 in all. Defendant was Cheung Hon, of No 11, Cheungshawan Road, who admitted stealing the jewellery from Mr. Rhamat Khan's house at No. 82, Un Chau Street, on November 15, when he was left in charge. It was stated that defendant once worked for complainant, and, after he was dismissed, was in the habit of visiting the house to take tea. One day he was left in charge and the jewellery was later missed. When accused, he admitted the theft and revealed where he had pawned the rings for $60 and sold the cuff links for $43. *

The Magistrate sentenced defendant to three months' imprisonment and ordered him to pay $70 amends to complainant or serve another six weeks. The rings were to be redeemed for half the price for which they were pawned.

PEAK LADY CHARGED

DANGEROUS DOG SUMMONS FAILS

Mrs. D. G. McAvoy, of 502 The Peak, was summoned before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy this morning on a charge of having kept a dangerous dog and falling to keep it under proper control at 4.30 p.m. on November 10. She pleaded not

Sub-Inspector McEwen sald the summons was taken out on the instructions of the Postmaster General as on November 10 a postman had been bitten at defendant's address. Explaining, Mrs. McAvoy said that on the day in question she was talking to her servant in the pantry. Her dog was beside her. The postman entered the pantry without her knowing it and touched her with a parcel of letters. Her dog then began barking and when the postman started running it made a snap at the man's legs, scratching him slightly. There was no blood from the scratch. She treated the man, after which he left. There was no necessity of the man entering the house at all.

Mr. Keen remarked that he did not consider the dog-to be dangerous, and Inspector McEwen agreed.
Dismissing the case, Mr. Keen said:-"It seems to me that the dog was more or less protecting its mis-

A widow, Chan Li-sze, aged 60, appeared before Mr. J. A. Fraser at the Central Magistracy this morning, summoned with failing to report the change of address of her registered mui-tsai Li Ho, aged 15, from No. 35b Wellington Street, third floor, to No. 37 Staunton Street, first floor. Inspector H. W. Fraser, attached to the Secretariat of Chinese Affairs, said that on November 9 last, a lady inspector visited No. 35b Wellington Street, for the purpose of seeing the girl. She was informed by neighbours that defendant had removed to another address. A few days later, to take the girl to the country, and it was then discovered that she had removed to Staunton Street. Defendant had been warned once before by the S. C. A. for falling to report the change of address of her mul-teal

The girl was exceptionally well treated, and had very little work to do in the house. There were so many girls missing that, through the publicity of the press, it was hoped Greater London as the result of to keep this fact before the public. Defendant said she fell ill ofter
